ORR AND GLUCK GO 9 INNINGS TO A TIE IN A HARD FOUGHT GAME

RAIN BROKE UP PLAY IN NINTH BEFORE EITHER HAD SCORED—OTHER CLUB ONLY PLAYED THREE INNINGS

Orr and Gluck battled nine innings to a tie on the former's grounds yesterday afternoon, the game being called on account of rain. The game was hard fought from the start, and victory was anybody's until rain set in. The field was a trifle wet, but despite this handicap the playing was fast and a number of spectacular feats were pulled in the outer gardens. Only two errors were made by each team.

In the eighth round "Grandpa June" for Orr, went way back into left for a four drive and pulled the ball down with his mittened hand after a strenuous and sensational dash. Drake, Gluck's left fielder, also made a beautiful running catch. He reached up and pulled the fly in and clung to the ball even though he lost his balance and tumbled somersaults.

"Dope" Major was at short and played his usual steady game. The manner in which Gluck held the league leaders scoreless was somewhat of a surprise, and shows that the tail-enders have considerably boosted their segregation. All teams of the mill league are going good now and the attendance increases at each performance. The crowd at Orr yesterday was something like 1,000 and the majority of them stayed until play was called despite the threats of rain.

Score by innings:

Gluck	0	0	0

Batteries: McAllister and Kay; Dunn and McDonald. Umpire Ellison. Time 1:30.

Game Forfeited

Riverside forfeited yesterday afternoon's game to Equinox because of a disagreement arising in the third inning, according to one of the players. The matter of the forfeiture will in all probability be decided upon by the league management.

ATLANTA HAS A TRIO OF NEWS BOYS WHO ARE SPLENDID CHARACTERS

Atlanta, June 10.—At the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets, there is a frail but dynamic little chap who sells paper from morning until night and with the money he makes takes care of a sick mother and two little sisters. His name is Frankie Campbell.

At Five Points, the heart of Atlanta, there is a sturdy youth with wavy cheeks and clear eyes who sends his little brother to school on the trolley. His name is Willie Edwards.

At Auburn avenue and Peachtree street, there is a slightly scowled youngster whose eyes are not so clear, but who brings sunshine, hope and happiness into the lives of his father, his mother and two little brothers. His name is Willie Davidson.

This trio of newsboys stands out conspicuously in the great little newsboy army of which Atlanta boasts.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN MADMOISELLE JACQUELINE'S

Mademoiselle Jacqueline will each Sunday give advice in this column pertinent to love affairs, and any letters addressed to Mme. Jacqueline care The Intelligencer will be given attention by her and answered in the next week's issue.

Wants Girls Explained.

Jacqueline: I want you to please explain girls in general and one girl in particular! I can solve most any math problem you can rattle out, but when it comes to girls—I would just as soon attempt to read the sphinx! When I am nicest to Betty, she treats me worst, and when I profess indifference, she is very decent to me. She has many admirers and seems to treat them all very much nicer than she does me!

Despondently, Jack.

Going Your Way.

Boy, that's the one thing in the world that no man has ever been able to understand—a girl. But I will tell you this to give you encouragement: If a girl treats you very badly, you may rest assured that you have things going your way!

Jacqueline.

Difference in Ages.

Dear Mlle: I am a widower of thirty-five, and am in love with a young lady of twenty-four. What is your advice, as to difference in ages with reference to marriage?

Mr. S.

Hard to Answer.

Dear Sir: Yours is a question which I myself have never been able to reach a decision upon. If you feel that you love this girl enough to ask her to share with you the most sacred of bonds, and you are sure that she loves you, and is not only infatuated with you, then I think you are justified in asking her to become your wife.

Mlle. Jacqueline.

Impetuous Youth.

Dear Jacqueline: I am in love with a promising young man of twenty-four, and he desires that we should be married at once, before his prospects materialize. Please advise me.

Anxiously, Betty.

Might Hinder Him.

My Dear Betty: You may have implicit faith in your lover's future prospects, but in justice to him, as well as to yourself, you should not think of matrimony until you have helped him to get a start. You may say that you can help him better after you are married, but my dear, you will find, after you have taken up the duties of a wife that you will have little time to help your husband in making his fortune in this world.

You must remember that he will have two instead of one to provide for; so rather than a helpmate for your husband, you will find that you are a hindrance.

Jacqueline.

Of Bad Habits.

Madame Jacqueline: I am very much in love with a young man two years my senior, and he says he loves me better than any girl he has ever known. He has some bad habits, and I've been told that he plays pool for stakes and bets on horse races. What must I do? I love him too much to give him up and let him continue in this kind of living!

Distractedly, Jane.

Try to Help Him First.

My dear, you are only one of many who ask this same question. It has been proved that a woman can literally love a man out of his wits. If your love is pure and true, and he loves you, he can't continue in this wild life and also continue loving you. The only question is, which will he abandon? If your love is strong enough he will become disgusted with the things that have interested him, and face life as he should. But, girl, don't marry him until you have helped him regain his manhood!

FEATURE AT THE BIJOU

Texas Quartette Will Appear There All This Week.

The management of The Bijou theatre announced yesterday that he had secured the Texas Quartette for the entire week in addition to the usual run of excellent picture. This quartette is known all over the entire south and plays only in the larger picture houses in the bigger cities. It is by accident that it has been secured in Anderson.

The feature picture at The Bijou Monday will be "The Red Widow," the following of which is a review: In "The Red Widow," a thoroughly amusing photo-production of the celebrated comedy bmy Channing Pollock and Renold Wolf, John Barrymore possesses the greatest opportunity he has ever had since becoming a photo-play star for demonstrating beyond all doubt his right to be called the foremost comedian of the screen today. In the role of Cicero Hannibal Butts, the distinguished comic salesman, who seeks to cobble his honeymoon and a business trip to Russia, and who as a result finds himself inextricably caught in a number of comic predicaments involving the Russian secret police and innumerable Nihilists, including the fascinating Red Widow, to whom he is introduced as the greatest living king-killer, John Barrymore is screamingly humorous in the depiction of his miseries and his futile efforts to clear himself in the eyes of the government and more principally his wife, who herself believes that Butts has deserted her for the Red Widow. How these humorous difficulties are at last explained is unfolded in the final scene of this sparkling comedy in the typical and imitable Barrymore manner.

The ideal salesman is the Want Ad; direct in method—convincing in argument—and reaching hundreds of customers in one day's work.
